Purpose of document

The Department of Planning and Environment is introducing a suite of reforms to deliver a better planning system for NSW. As part of these reforms, we are introducing a standard form for development consents and optional best-practice conditions that consent authorities can adopt for certain types of development.

This document provides a draft set of standard conditions for farm gate premises, farm experience premises and farm stay accommodation for use by consent authorities when issuing determinations.

Other standard conditions for residential development, mixed use, change of use, food and drink premises, demolition, and biodiversity credits can also be used where appropriate.
